The Lutheran Church and Death and After.

Lutherans teach that the body, which in death was separated from the soul, will be raised on the Last Day and reunited with the soul; that all men will be judged by Jesus Christ; that all believers in Christ will be given eternal life in Heaven, while all unbelievers will be sent into eternal condemnation.

John 5, 28 29: Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.

Matthew 23, 31 48: When the Son of Man shall come in His glory, and all the holy angels with Him, then shall he sit upon the throne of His glory; and before Him shall be gathered all nations; and he shall separate them one from another as a shepherd divideth the sheep from the goats; and He shall set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left. Then shall the King say unto them on His right, Come ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you before the foundation of the world: for I was an hungred and ye gave Me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave Me drink; I was in prison, and ye came unto Me. Then shall the righteous answer Him saying, when saw we Thee an hungred and fed Thee; or thirsty, and gave Thee drink? When saw we Thee a LOCAL NEWS.

Mr Albert Wurtz is making good progress toward recovery, following a major operation.

Mr Peter Unterschneitz returned Sunday morning from Wembley, where he has purchased a half section of land six miles from Jac Miller's farm.

Today sees the arrival here of the first contingent of Variety and Normal students, to spend Easter holidays at their homes.

Jac Miller, Wembley, is in town this week.

Saturday's train from Vancouver was three and a half hours late.

At the drawing which took place at the Pontiac Big Six demonstration in Stony last week, Mr H. T. Walton won the $50 prize and Mr J. A. Willie $25.

An effort will be made to hold a meeting of the Agricultural Society in the Town Hall on the afternoon of Saturday, March 30, when it is earnestly requested that all interested in Stony's annual Fair put in an appearance.

Baker Trapp has a fine assortment of cakes on display at his shop.

United Church Notes.

On Sunday last, at the pre-Easter services, there was a splendid attendance at all points; the subject "The Betrayal of Jesus" At Stony Plain an anthem was sung by the choir; the solo part being sung by Mr F. G. Moses.

Confirmation Ceremony

Confirmation services were held on Sunday last at St. Matthew Church (Missouri Synod), by Rev E. Eberhardt, pastor. Following is a list of those confirmed—

Marie Trapp, Ida Fuhr, Elsie Goetz, Irma Kulak, Teresa Litzemberger, Margaret Schwartz, Emma Schultz, Elsie Goebel.

Louise Wudel, Walter Zutz, E. Goetz, Art Foerster, Martin Ulmer, Walter Enders.

The Double "C."

Christie's Cabaret was the scene of much merriment on Friday evening, this being the annual Frolic of the Dinkelnoofer club. After a supply of interior decorations had been disposed of, the fun began, the first number being a long-distance waltz, won by Fritz Belhopp, with a record of 23½ m.p.h. This was followed by singing "Down Where the Wuerzberger Flows." From then till train time, the fun was fast and furious.

One Nation, Two Cultures

The Dominion of Canada is a great heritage. It has many great problems to solve in order to achieve its destiny. Before Governments and people can successfully cope with these problems the citizenship of the Dominion must become imbued with, fully accept, and earnestly practice the "Spirit of Confederation" which animated the leaders in the public life of this country sixty odd years ago. The names and memories of the Fathers of Confederation are held in honor, not only for what they achieved, but because of the true patriotism expressed through real sacrifice by which union became an accomplished fact.

It is no light matter to speak of the Spirit of Confederation. It was a very real thing. It breathes through every utterance of the men who found it necessary to sink political differences, submerge personal views and convictions, abandon policies dear to their hearts, and accept compromises falling short of what they desired. But they did it, knowing that only so could disaster for British and Canadian interests be averted and the future of the northern half of the continent under the British flag be assured. It was this spirit which alone made Confederation possible and carried it successfully through the stormy early years.

This same spirit is just as vitally necessary in the life of Canada today as it ever was in the past. Without it the Dominion could not have had its being; without it the Dominion cannot continue to exist.

The great challenge which Canada presents to the world at large, and, of course, most vitally of all to her own people, is not in the material realm of trade and commerce, but in the spirit of the people of the Dominion composed as they are of two great races, two distinct forms of religion, speaking two languages, and the product of two cultures. Canada's challenge to the world is to be found in our success or failure to consistently live up to the Spirit of Confederation and make it a living vitality in the life of the Dominion. This is Canada's challenge to the world because the issues of world peace or war are wrapped up in the solution or exactly similar problems in the nations of Europe and across the Pacific.

The problem before the Fathers of Confederation was whether the existence of two races, two languages, two cultures in Canada was an insurmountable obstacle to the creation of a single, united nation, and whether such a nation could exist on the basis of that fact. Their decision was that such a nation could exist, and they laid down the formula in the British North America Act. Confederation became an accomplished fact, and it has not only survived but progressed and grown to an amazing extent.

There is one Canadian of French race and language for every two Canadians of English race and language. How shall both feel that common love for home and soil which is the soul of nationality? Both races have traditions, a past of their own. On what principle and to what ends may both races have a common national future?

These vital questions cut clean through the whole of our national life today, just as they did prior to and at the time of Confederation. Shall the people of Canada, with no vast an estate to develop in common, with so great a part to play in elevating the quality of living, and so noble an opportunity awaiting them alike in the British Empire and in the sphere of international relations, always be faced with the menace of racial discord, of attacks by one race on the integrity of the other, of recourse to embittered discussion of rights that should be secure, or wrongs that should have been corrected, when scores of social and economic problems are crying out for solution? Race is like a car left with its engine running. The slightest touch will put it in gear and set it speeding towards some bitter accident.

In the nineteenth century Lord Durham's policy was the "bilateralism" of the French-Canadian. The policy of the Fathers of Confederation was the recognition of the identity of both races, both languages, both religions, both cultures. Their ideal was one nation, two cultures; one nationality, two languages; one loyalty, two races.

Which policy was practical? To obliterate a whole people, or to form a nationality in which the identity of two peoples might be secure, free, developing? The Fathers of Confederation had the only practical policy, the only policy that would ensure peace, make the progress of Canada possible, and establish a new nationality in British North America.

Creasures Of Habit

We are unreasonable animals many of us. The person who sputters like a hot tea kettle because he is required to button his raincoat every morning and unbutton it every night—day after day, month after month, year after year—a long and dreary round of monotony will like a fire alarm when one little button comes off.

Can See Two Oceans

The inhabitants of Costa Rica say that the only place commanding a view of the Atlantic and Pacific ocean is the summit of Mount Irazu situated in Cartago Province. The mountain is 12,600 feet high, and the Costa Ricans assert that on a clear day it is not difficult to see the waters of both oceans with the naked eye.

Guard Against FLU—Sore Throat The First Warning.

Few families will escape. This epidemic constitutes a real danger. Health authorities everywhere warn the public of the danger of the common cold. "Flu" usually starts with Sore Throat. Unless the germs are killed by some antiseptic treatment a serious malady may develop.

A simple treatment is to gargle the throat three times daily with Nerviline. The antiseptic properties of Nerviline quickly destroy the germs in the throat. Of course if the chest is sore Nerviline should be rubbed over the affected area—lots of rubbing—it can't burn a blister, but will bring out the congestion and break up the cold.

To prevent "Flu" or colds from gaining headway Nerviline will prove most effective. It is hardly necessary to point out that the bowels should be stimulated, and the system purged of all waste materials. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills are recommended. They act without griping or discomfort of any kind. This combination treatment of Nerviline and Dr. Hamilton's Pills will prove a very satisfactory prevention for Grippe, Flu, etc.

Sure Of Hoover's Support

League Of Nations Has Good Friend In U.S. President

What stand will President Hoover take in regard to United States co-operation with the League of Nations? Supporters of the League, while they have practically abandoned any hope that the States will become an active member of the League, feel that in Mr. Hoover they have the strongest support of its policies since the regime of President Wilson.

They base this belief on the fact that in 1919, President Hoover was an urgent advocate of United States entry into the League and that while bound by loyalty to his party to take an opposite point of view he will always remain at least a strong proponent of League ideals.

It cannot be said that League supporters felt they had a genuine friend in Mr. Coolidge. Practical ignorance or tepid acquiescence was all that could be expected from the former chief executive. Always he appeared to be dominated by the small town point of view of the narrowest type of American in his dealing with the League and constitutionally he seemed incapable of thinking on international planes.

While the new president is also bound by party considerations it is believed that by every means in his power he will strive to represent that sizable minority in his country who fervently advocate closer co-operation with the League in maintaining world security.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM RHEUMATISM

For Relief You Must Reach the Root Of The Trouble In the Blood

Sufferers from rheumatism who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using other remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The tonic treatment with this medicine has proved in thousands of cases that it builds up the blood to a point that enables it to cast out the rheumatic poisons through the regular channels, the bowels, kidneys and the skin. When this done rheumatism is banished and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich there will be no return of the trouble.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do what is claimed for them is proved by the case of Mrs. Etta M. Muma, Sarnia, Ont., who says: "I was a helpless invalid for a year with inflammation of the stomach. I had medical treatment and took mineral baths, but with no result. Naturally I felt utterly discouraged, and was suffering greatly. Then one day I read in a local paper of a case similar to mine, in which great praise was given to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to give this medicine a trial. It is now with the greatest pleasure I write to tell you that in less than two months after starting the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was able to get up and walk about as well as ever I did. I can never praise these pills too highly and I hope that in making my experience public it may benefit some other sufferer."

A very useful book "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price, 50c. a box. Try them today.

PROOF OF DYES is in the dyeing!

Words won't dye a dress, or coat, or sweater. It takes real anilines to do that. That's why Diamond Dyes contain from three to five times more anilines than any other dye—by actual test. It's the anilines in Diamond Dyes that do the work; that give the colors such brilliant such depth and permanence. It's real anilines that keeps them from giving things that re-dyed look; from spotting or streaking.

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. They compare results. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Observe how they keep their brilliance. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or rest silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Strong Evidence That Indicates The Real Worth Of Dominion As A Field For Mineral Industry

Among the evidences of Canadian progress in 1922, none is more gratifying than that which again reveals, in stronger light than ever, the real worth of the Dominion as a field for mineral industry. The preliminary figures for the value of the country's mineral output, recently issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, reach a peak well above any previous level.

There are two physical facts that carry a broad and special interest in connection with the steady ascent of Canada's mineral production in late years.

One is to find in the sheer variety of minerals that enter into our annual output. In financial circles the wisdom of "diversity of investment" is a byword, and it may well be said that Canada's strength as a mining field likewise lies largely in "diversity"—in the fundamental fact that Nature has invested the Dominion with mineral assets which, in variety, are matched by few, if any, countries. It is to this wide range of resources that the Canadian mining industry mainly owes both its enjoyment of present prosperity and its assurance of stable, well-sustained growth.

A second physical fact of no less importance exhibits itself in the breadth of territory afforded by the Dominion as fair ground for more intensive prospecting. A major portion of Canada has so far been subjected only to cursory study, but even so, ample information has been gained as to the potential mineral wealth of the less known regions of the country to confirm the Canadian mining industry in its title to an ample field for further development.

British Stock Farmer Uses Artificial Light Ultra-Violet Rays Keep Animals In Good Condition

Ultra-violet light is reported to be a boon to the British stock farmer. Besides maintaining cows, race horses, etc., in good health during the sunless months of winter, it is improving their condition so that they bring a higher price in the market, according to V. M. Weill, a south of England farmer, in Surrey, who experimented with pigs. Twelve pigs were treated with ultra-violet light for three minutes daily when they were 10 to 12 weeks old, and the time of treatment was gradually increased to 30 minutes. This was maintained until the animals were sold at the age of 20 weeks. Twelve similar pigs were kept as controls without light treatment. All 24 were sold on the same day, and in every case the irradiated pigs sold for a higher price than the untreated animals. The extra money obtained for each pig was said to be 14 times the cost of the operation of the quartz lamps which were used for the irradiation.

Great Britain Forging Ahead With No Sign Of Decadence As Some Critics Have Predicted

Keeping Pace With Settlement Many New School Districts Organized In Province Of Alberta

Fifty-six new school districts were organized in the province of Alberta during 1922, bringing the total number of districts in the province up to 3,497. The total school enrolment is now approximately 160,000. Eighty-one new one-room schools and thirteen new two-room schools were built in country and village districts last year.

A feature of the report of the Department of Education is the reference to the increase in the number of students enrolled for technical education. In the institute of Technology at Calgary, enrolment last year reached a total of 1,745. Approximately 500 new students were enrolled during the year for correspondence courses. Over 1,000 more pupils wrote the departmental examinations than in any previous year. Of all the units written in the high school grades 75.19 per cent. were passed successfully.

Seeds Will Be Sun-Tested

Will Test Seeds For Purity At World's Grain Exhibition To Be Held In Regina

Grain exhibits entered in competition at the World's Grain Exhibition, to be held in Regina, in 1923, will be tested for purity in nature's laboratory. Although the exhibition itself will not open until August, the seeds entered in competition must reach the grounds before April, so that they may be sown in plots to determine the purity of the various varieties.

Prizes aggregating nearly a quarter million dollars will be awarded for grain and seeds, and exhibits from all the world's grain growing countries are expected to be entered in competition.

B.C. Purebred Poultry Sent To Switzerland

Birds For First Shipment Supplied By Victoria Man

The first shipment of British Columbia purebred poultry ever sent to Switzerland, was made by the R.O.P. Poultry Breeders' Association of British Columbia recently. The shipment consisted of ten White Leghorns yearling hens, all blood-tested and with R.O.P. records of from 200 to 225 eggs. The birds were bred and supplied by N. E. Flaxton, Victoria. They were shipped on the steamer "Notre Dame" which took them to Havre, France. From there they went to Switzerland by train.

One Way Out

The way to avoid having unwanted guests for week-end visits is to have no spare bedrooms, according to a man who has given a great deal of thought to the unwanted-all-night-guest problem. "Extra bedrooms in a house invite company as surely as a peach tree in a yard invites boys," he said. "When you build a new house don't add too many bedrooms if you wish to lead a quiet life."

Can Make Nitrogen From Air

Before War, Secret Was Known Only To Germans

The world's supply of fertilizer, has been greatly augmented by the discovery of extensive nitrate fields in South Africa. However, modern chemistry has rendered us largely independent of such natural deposits. For years it has been possible, says a Daily Chronicle writer, to make nitrogen from the atmosphere, and before the war, German chemists knew the secret process by which this could be done. Despite the blockade, Germany was able to produce millions of tons of nitrogen from the air for agricultural purposes and the making of explosives. This process was a secret for some time, but ultimately we discovered it, and our chemical factories can now produce vast quantities of synthetic nitrogen from the very air we breathe.

W: N. U. 1778

Phillip Whitwell Wilson, formerly a member of parliament for South St. Paul's, famous as an author and war correspondent, recently gave an address in the Town Hall, New York. He said:

All past empires have declined and fallen. Will that be the fate of the British Empire? No! With a population of forty-five millions she governs 450 millions. At the outset of the Great War her area was about thirteen million square miles. Today it is about a million more. We must remember that empires in the past lacked means of communication. Now we have the wireless, and but their value is trivial in comparison with our telegraphs, trans-oceanic telephones, quick trains, ships and airplanes. Our Empire is the first that recognized that when colonies grow up it is best for them to begin house-keeping for themselves. We have a civil service which is superb; our judiciary never stood higher in ability and dignity, testifying to the rising character of the people, the efficiency of our courts. In education there is a keener and more intelligent interest than in any other era of our history.

To the advancing prosperity of the British Empire the Great War came as a staggering blow. In 1914 our national debt was three-and-a-half billions sterling; it is now 38 billions. In 1914 our taxes were not quite one billion; they are now three-and-a-half billions. In England taxation is about $50 per head annually, as against about $20 in the United States. The latest annual report of her commerce shows England exporting four-and-a-half billions and importing six billions. The difference was in large part made up by income from foreign investments, receipts from shipping and insurance with goodly amounts from tourists, most of them trans-Atlantic.

As to unemployment: about one-ninth the toilers in Great Britain are out of work. Usually the figure has stood at about one-twentieth. And yet, partly because of an increased population, there are at this hour more people at work in Great Britain than there were in 1914, and they are better clothed and fed. Since the Armistice about a million new dwellings have been built, about 600,000 more are needed. Acute depression is felt in Wales and in Northern England, especially in the cotton and woollen trades, in iron, coal and shipbuilding. The textile mills before the war enjoyed wide markets in Russia, India and China. These have been lost. In coal mining the situation seems hopeless. In 1927 the estimated loss in this trade was $45,000,000, in operating 5,000 mines by about 1,500 companies, liable for royalties to about 4,000 land-owners.

As to remedies: Every week about a thousand miners leave their old homes. Every year about five thousand miners are trained for other trades, and are slowly absorbed by other districts of England. Notwithstanding the depression in shipbuilding there are today on the stocks ships which will have a total tonnage of one-and-a-half millions. In the steel trade there is anxiety regarding the growth of competition with France, where the production may soon overtake that of Great Britain, now about eight million tons a year.

Often the question is asked, "Is England to share the fate of Holland and drop to secondary rank?" That would be no ignoble destiny. No nation on earth is more worthy of respect than Holland. A nation may be great without being the most populous or the richest.

Cheewing Gum Craze In London

Cheewing gum has become such a craze in London, that cleaners in trains, buses, theatres and motion picture houses are complaining of the extra work of removing the "parted" seats from under the seats. Dealers say the demand for gum grew greatly during the summer, and they believe touring Americans were responsible for much of it. The Londoners then took up the habit from the visitors.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved, or diarrhoea checked. A vegetable product, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

When Cunarders Carried Cows

Vast Difference Between Past and Present Of Steamship Travel

Amazing facts are given by E. D. Breton, of London, England, who writes of the past and present of steamship travel, and refers to the famous old "Britannia," which was the first steamer to cross the Atlantic on schedule, and which was the product of the imagination of Sir Samuel Cunard, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, founder of the Cunard Line.

For instance: the Britannia was the wonder ship of her day, yet described by the inimitable Charles Dickens as having a saloon "not unlike a gigantic barn," with sleeping berths comparable only to coffins. Her staff comprised two stewards, a cook, a kind of cabin boy and the navigation crew. She carried a cow aboard to supply fresh milk. Her bathroom would have disgusted any traveler of today, and may have disheartened many prospects of those middle eighties.

Gone is the Britannia. Sir Samuel is gone too. Today the monuments to the man and his era—the little steamers are the famous Cunarders which ply across the Atlantic to and from Great Britain, and Europe, and Canada, and the United States, and cruise into the seven seas of the world with their red funnels topped by a black band.

For instance: the world's fastest liner, the Cunarder "Mauretania," voyages along at about 30 miles per hour. The Cunarder "Berengaria" houses 4,000 souls, and carries hundreds of bathrooms for passengers who can either pay the same old Britannia ticket price for accommodation undreamed of in those days, or pay as high as $6,000 for luxury that kings could not get in days gone by. Passengers can now hold swimming parties in the ship's pool, stage balls, or send facetious messages by wireless to friends ashore. They tread on the Cunarder "Aquitania's" three miles of carpet, benefit by her 10,000 electric lights, and 1500 push bells, and are cheered by her 2,000 yards of silk damask wall coverings. Heedless travellers cross the Atlantic in about four days from New York on the Mauretania and marvel at her fame, which has lasted 22 years, and at her record of total mileage which runs into the million.

A Corrector Of Pulmonary Troubles. Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in correcting disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience, and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes.

Cloves came from the Indies and like their name from the Latin clavus—meaning a nail, to which they have a resemblance.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions, and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.

The onion first came from India. The onion was almost an object of worship with the ancient Egyptians.

Many have been relieved of corns by Holloway's Corn Remover. It has a power of its own that will be found effective.

High in World List

Canadian Banks Among Leaders in Amount Of Deposits

In a table made by the California Bank, Los Angeles, is found the interesting fact: the Bank of Montreal ranks tenth in amount of deposits in a list of 150 of the largest banks of the United States, Great Britain and British Dominions. The rank of the banks in this list is based on the deposit in dollars to the end of the past year.

The five leading banks on the list are located in London, and the next five in New York. The next two are located in Canada. They are the Bank of Montreal, and the Royal Bank of Canada. Down the list to the sixteenth, name is found the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The paid up deposits, according to this tabulation, for the largest bank is $1,920,278,206. The Bank of Montreal has a deposit of $733,489,278, and the Royal Bank $703,202,003.

Toes Made Comfortable Sore Corns Removed

Quick, safe relief is almost instantaneous if you apply PUTNAM'S CORN EXTRACTOR. Shoes won't pinch or hurt. One single drop of Putnam's stops the pain. A few applications make the corn dry up and drop off. Putnam's Corn Extractor gives satisfaction. Thousands use it every day. Get a bottle from your druggist. Refuse substitute for Putnam's—the one sure relief for sore corns.

Reindeer For Canada

A cable from Stockholm states that a consignment of 300 live Swedish reindeer has been shipped to Canada, at the request of the Norwegian port. This is the largest shipment of the sort ever to go forward.

A PERFECT MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets Should Be In Every Home Where There Are Children

The perfect medicine for little ones is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever and promote beautiful and refreshing sleep. It is impossible for Baby's Own Tablets to harm even the new-born babe as they are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or any other injurious drugs. Concerning them Mrs. Earl Taylor, Owen Sound, Ont., writes: "I have four children and have always used Baby's Own Tablets. I am never without the Tablets in the house as they are the best medicine that I know of for little ones."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

By means of a secret chemical compound, German vessels made a town completely invisible in six seconds with a smoke cloud 300 feet high and 500 yards square.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unbound stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are hurtful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

It is estimated that British workers spend $150,000,000 yearly in travelling between home and place of employment.

Use Minard's Liniment for the Flu.

The Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, operates under a charter originally granted to it by George II., of England, in 1751.

To Asthma Sufferers. Dr. J. L. Keeler's Asthma Remedy comes like a helping hand to a sinking swimmer. It gives new life and hope to those who have come to believe impossible. Its benefit is too evident to be questioned—it is its own argument. See our own advertisement. If you suffer from asthma get this tried remedy and find help like thousands of others.

Just so many are doomed to be hit by cars this year. Every time you dodge successfully, you doom somebody else.

Minard's Liniment for the Grippe and Flu.

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise. The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON MARCH 31

THE FUTURE LIFE (Easter Lesson)

Golden Text: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life."—Revelation 2:10.

Lesson: Matthew 23:1-46; Mark 12:28, 27; Luke 24:1-5; John 14:1-6; 1 Corinthians 15:3-20, 50-55; 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18; Revelation 22:1-6.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 23:1-6.

Explanations and Comments

The Resurrection Of Christ, Luke 24:1, 2.—Early on Sunday morning after the crucifixion of Jesus, Mary Magdalene and other women came to the tomb where His body had been laid, to embalm it with the spices they had prepared. All the way they had been worrying about the great stone that blocked the entrance to the tomb. They could not move it, and who would be there to move it for them? But when they came within sight of the tomb, in they saw that the stone had been rolled away. Christ had risen. "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" were the words they heard. Was it true? Jesus was not there, but where was he? They were full of fear and full of joy, half fearing and half believing. And then they met him. There he was, the same Jesus, and their fear and doubt vanished. He was with them even as He said.

We no longer fear what lies beyond the grave. We know that we do not really die, that we pass through death to another life. We know that we shall live again, and in that knowledge we lose our fear and find hope and joy.

"May Easter Day To thine heart say, 'Christ died and rose for thee.'"
"May Easter night On thine heart write 'O Christ, I live to Thee.'"

MARSHAL FOCH SUCCUMBS AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Paris.—Marshal Ferdinand Foch, famous generalissimo who led the allied armies to victory in the great war, died at his home after a lengthy illness. He was 77 years old.

Although it had long been apparent that the great general was fighting his "last campaign," his warrior heart would not give in and day after day he fought off the inevitable end with grim courage, but a combination of heart trouble, kidney disease and a lung infection were too great at his age.

On February 26, the Associated Press was authoritatively informed that the marshal's death seemed only a matter of days—a week, perhaps, or ten days. But the marshal, with indomitable will, held off death even longer than his doctors thought possible. It was sudden collapse of his heart after several days of improvement that brought death to the intrepid warrior.

"The foremost fighter in the great war," displayed in illness the same grit that he had displayed as the commander-in-chief who led the allied armies to victory in the great war.

The national funeral accorded him is the sixth in the history of France. The five men who were previously so honored were: Presidents Carnot and Faure; Pasteur, the scientist; Gambetta, the statesman; and Victor Hugo, the poet.

No Disarmament

Conference This Year

Earliest Possible Date Will Be Spring Of 1930

Geneva.—League of Nations circles have informed the press that there will be no possibility of holding a general disarmament conference this year.

The earliest date it was declared at which such a conference can be convoked will be the spring of 1930, but it is more than probable that it will be well along in the fall before it can be held.

This delay is due purely to the present lack of progress in the preparation for the conference.

It will be necessary it was pointed out that the League's Preparatory Disarmament Commission must have at least two more sessions before agreement can be reached on a draft project for a general disarmament convention.

Seeding In Peace River

Ten Acres Of Wheat Seeded On March Nineteenth

Edmonton, Alta.—A special to the Journal from Spirit River, in the Peace River country, says: The Blueberry settlement, twenty-five miles west of Spirit River, has the rest of the country shaded for early seeding. Jack Burrows, a rancher of Blueberry, seeded ten acres to Marquis wheat, March 19th. This is believed to be the earliest seeding on record in the North.

Work on the land in Edmonton district got off to a start on March 19, when a large disc swung into action on the provincial government farm at Oliver. This is said to be one of the earliest starts on the land in ten years.

Earl Arrives At Castle Southampton, England.—Amid lusty cheers from employees of the estate and fusillades of fog signals exploded by a truck pushed along the railway line, the "rancher earl," from Alberta, tenth Earl of Egmout, and his son, Viscount Percival, arrived at the family seat, Avon Castle, in Hampshire.

Important Land Deal

Springwater, Sask.—An important land deal has been completed here by the sale by R. H. Bourk, of 15 sections of farm land to a party of Monnettes. The purchase price is said to be around $60,000. Mr. Bourk is a prominent farmer of this district, having come here in pioneer days.

Discussing Amount and Duration Of Annuities

Committee Makes Good Start At Reparations Key Problem

Paris.—The experts committee on reparations is making a good start at its key problem—the amount and duration of annuities with which Germany's debt will be paid.

Discussion is strictly semi-official, however, and there are still wide gaps between the hopes and claims of the different parties. But there is a spirit of conciliation in the air which seemed to justify an optimistic outlook on deliberations which seem to reach a plenary session of the committee.

France was credited with the intention of claiming ten billion marks (about $2,500,000) of an immediate payment which Germany is expected to make.

Belgium, it is stated, will ask reimbursement of six billion marks for alleged worthless forged German currency which the German invaders held behind.

Great Britain's claims in the first payment are expected to total about four billion marks (about $1,000,000,000). It is understood that Great Britain will claim that previous agreements do not apply to the claims of the dominion and that she expects further to be reimbursed now for what has already been paid in the United States on the war debt account.

Long Search Rewarded

Father Finds Son Stolen About Forty Years Ago

Kansas City, Kansas.—Forty years of search, his life and fortune spent in quest of the babe, his boy who was kidnapped from a cradle, was rewarded when A. A. Whitely, 50, was reunited with his son, F. H. Bixler.

The son, now 41 years of age, is a prosperous farmer of Kent, Ohio. His mother died at his birth.

The child's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Lewis, ran away with the boy from their home in Emporia, Kansas. A man named Alfred Bixler disappeared from Emporia at the same time. The boy grew up with the name of Bixler.

Danube River Overflows Banks

Families Lose Everything In Worst Flood Since 1872

Bratislava, Czechoslovakia.—Thousands of families along the right bank of the Danube have been bereft of their homes, cattle and other belongings by the worst flood since 1872.

The great river, which is choked with millions of tons of thawing ice, was rising steadily and threatened further disaster.

Church bells tolled along its 1,500 miles length, warning dwellers near its banks to flee for their lives.

A Million Dollar Prize

Shanghai, China.—A three-cornered contest among wind and waves, Japanese salvagers and hundreds of Chinese pirates for a prize valued at more than $1,000,000, is taking place off the China Coast, eighty miles from Shanghai, within the Yangtze estuary. The prize consists of the North German Lloyd steamer "Geissen" which was wrecked on the treacherous Button Rock.

Alberta House Proposes

Edmonton, Alta.—The third session of the sixth Legislature came to a close here, March 29, at 5:45 o'clock after His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor William Egbert had consented in the name of His Majesty the King to the passage of a large number of bills and had formally accepted on behalf of His Majesty the supply granted the House.

Horses Win Against Turtle

Port Arthur, Tex.—Fishermen, A. Wiltz hitched four horses to a turtle and dragged a 1,350 pound turtle from the Gulf of Mexico. The turtle whose protective shell had been cut, perhaps by a ship's propeller, put up a hard fight before the horses finally won. It was estimated to be more than 300 years old.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, acting Conservative leader, in the budget debate at Ottawa on March 7, urged retaliation by Canada in the foreboding economic brush with the United States.

Prince Decorated By Master Mariners

Receives Temporary insignia Of Office While Regular One Is Being Made

London, England.—The Prince of Wales at the annual banquet of the Master Mariners, was adorned with a temporary insignia of office, an ornate badge and chain, while the actual insignia in gold and jewels is being made. It was the first time the prince in his official capacity with the body to which the King last year appointed him "master."

Cabinet ministers, ambassadors, and many prominent men were present.

The prince, after an allusion to the presence of the high commissioners of the Dominions, announced amid cheers of proposal to make the company an imperial body by increasing its membership by one-hundred. All of the new members had been master mariners resident in the Dominions. The prince said he regarded the proposal as a very important move and one which would serve as a great imperial link.

Says Doukhobors Are Not Communists

Look On World As One Community States Peter Veregin

Winnipeg.—Stating that communism, so-called, was nothing but a "changing of seats," Peter Veregin, spiritual head of the Christian community of all Doukhobors, asserted in an interview here that Doukhobors were not communists in the accepted sense of the term.

They looked upon all the world as one community, headed by Christ, and looked upon the country in which they were a community unit.

Mr. Veregin declared that it had not been Doukhobors, but Russians living on the borders of the Christian community and wrongly considered members of it, that had been involved in trouble with educational authorities in British Columbia.

Trains Meet In Head-On Collision

Nineteen Meet Death In Train Wreck In Ontario

Perry Sound, Ont.—Through an unexplained mistake in the interpretation of orders, two crack Canadian National Railway transcontinental express trains loaded with sleeping passengers crashed head-on at Droucourt, a siding 46 miles north of here. Members of train crews met death when the heavy engines and the baggage cars of the trains were telescoped and passengers in a colonist car on the west-bound train were burned to death, some before the eyes of helpless trainmen and passengers.

Some of the dead may never be identified owing to the fierceness with which the flames devoured all within the car.

Railway officials estimate that 19 persons were killed, though late tonight but six of these, all members of the train crews, were listed among the identified dead.

The passengers burned to death in the colonist car are believed to have been mostly immigrants bound for new homes in the West. Many of them were without relatives or friends in the Dominion.

The colonist car which caught fire was of wooden construction. This type of car is fitted with a stove which passengers are allowed to use for preparation of their meals during the long journey from the seaboard to the prairie provinces.

The interior of these cars is wooden. It is believed that the crash overturned the stove and the car took fire from the coals which were spilled out.

The passengers, many of them asleep in their berths when the trains crashed, were caught without means of escape. Emergency trains were sent out from divisional points when news of the disaster was flashed out. The injured were placed aboard and rushed to hospital here. Some died en route.

Representative From India

Will Attend National Conference On Education At Vancouver

New Delhi, India.—The National Conference on Education at Vancouver, in April, will be probably the first occasion on which the Indian states have been represented as a separate unit of the British Empire. Lawrence Bhabhoo-Williams, foreign secretary of the State of Patiala and noted historian, is the official representative of the native ruling princes and he left for Vancouver on March 22.

Requests For English Charities London, England.—Several requests to English charities are contained in the will of R. M. Hornepayne, formerly of the British Columbia Electric Railways, who died here recently. The estate amounted to $700,000.

Berlin.—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, states that a flight from Friedrichshafen to Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, was being considered for this year.

MY ANGELINE

Evangeline Wells, Grand Prize

Wife Wayne

It is not often that Canada has been the inspiration for popular songs. We sing about "Michigan," "My Ohio Home," "The Swanne River," but at least the most romantic portion of Canadian territory has served to inspire popular song writers just as it did the great Long-low in other days. Wolfe Gilbert and Mable Wayne have given us "My Angeline," based on the "Evangeline" story and, no doubt, many other Evangeline songs will make their appearance and add to the fame of this quaint Nova Scotia valley of apple blossoms. The authors of "My Angeline" were also co-authors of "Evangeline," "Chiquitta" and many other popular numbers.

ALBERTA FIGHTS PLAN FOR RETURN OF RESOURCES

Edmonton, Alta.—Protesting that return of the natural resources to Alberta on the same basis as their return by the Dominion government to Manitoba and Saskatchewan would be unfair to Alberta, Premier J. E. Brownlee delivered a lengthy exposition of Alberta's position on the subject in the legislature.

Grounds on which Mr. Brownlee objected to the same settlement of the resources question with Alberta as with Saskatchewan, were outlined by the premier as follows:

The Dominion had made Alberta an offer, including the return of school lands and school lands fund; a settlement of the parks question on the same basis as other provinces and an arrangement that, when the financial considerations ultimately were decided upon there would be a transfer of natural resources with the present subsidy but with no increase. This is the same offer made to Saskatchewan, but that province is objecting to continuation of the present subsidy, now amounting to $750,000 annually, arguing that it should not be fixed until the subsidy rises to $1,200,000 annually, the maximum.

It had been suggested that settlement would be made by the Dominion on the same terms with both Saskatchewan and Manitoba, said Mr. Brownlee.

If this arrangement were carried into effect, the net result would be that Alberta's subsidy would remain for all time at $682,000 a year, while Saskatchewan would receive annually $750,000 this being entirely due to the accident of Saskatchewan, having passed the population basis of the earlier agreement by which a larger subsidy would be paid, even though when the two provinces were created in 1905 there had been no discrimination.

Plans Another Trip Over Niagara Falls

French-Canadian Willing To Dare Death A Second Time

Niagara Falls N.Y.—Joan Lusier, French-Canadian, who successfully made the perilous trip over the falls last summer, encased in a rubber ball, probably will dare death a second time on July 4.

Lusier went over the falls in a specially constructed ball in daylight with the intention of personally witnessing the feat. He was fished from the river two hours after starting his trip by William "Red" Hill, veteran riverman.

Lusier is planning to make the second trip in a vehicle which he calls a "motor ball." The ball will be six feet in diameter, electrically lighted and so constructed that the occupant will be able to remain upright during the entire journey. It will be heavily padded inside to insure escape from any serious injury.

Canadian Bank For California

San Francisco, Calif.—Organization of a new bank, the Canadian Bank of Commerce (California), was approved by the state banking commissioner. The action makes the delegation formed of representatives San Francisco branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, a separate entity from the main organization, operating under a state charter.

New Submarine Device

Washington D.C.—The submarine "Lung" device which recently proved successful in tests off the Florida coast is to be furnished to the entire submarine personnel of the navy, it was learned recently. Seven hundred "lungs" have been ordered by the navy for use on its four V-type submarines. Bids for 6,300 more will be called for soon, it was learned.

Million Yearly For Hospitals

Quebec.—Without dissent the Quebec legislative assembly approved a measure introduced by Hon. A. David, provincial secretary, whereby a million dollars a year will be taken from the profits of the Quebec liquor commission and devoted to aiding provincial hospitals.

One of Montreal's first big buildings that was demolished, the room for one of the latest skyscrapers downtown has appeared on an entirely new site, the de-fully was the building taken down that scarce a score of new stones were required to complete its reconstruction on its new lot.

Everyone in Canada is worth
$2,700! That at any rate, is what government figures show, the aggregate national wealth for 1928—
$26,691,482,000—working out at that

Men hurried to do his bidding. When the stretcher bearers leaned to lift the inanimate body, Hoopa fiercely interferred. "Let him alone," he said savagely. Stopping, he picked up the light form and bore it down the hill to their bed in the rough log shack. Donald forced a few drops of brandy through the dying man's colourless lips. His eyes stirred feebly. His eyes flickered open and he smiled as he recognized Hoopa.

"Give me your hand," he whispered faintly. "I'm runnin' my last high-lead, old pal, I guess God'll be good to our rough-necks." He gasped painfully. The irregular breathing ceased; his eyes became fixed and glassy, his jaw sagged.

Hoopa sat motionless, the hand of his dead friend held in his warm clasp. Slowly his head dropped forward and his big frame shook with dry racking sobs. Doctor Paul came in hurriedly. In answer to the look of interrogation in Donald's eyes, he shook his head sadly.

Donald and Wilkinson tiptoed softly to the door. They were unashamed of the tears that made furrows down their blackened cheeks. Sick at heart, utterly overcome by this tragedy, Wilkinson sank dejectedly to a seat outside the cabin door and covered his face with his hands.

There came a sudden patter of raindrops that drummed on the roof of the cabin. Wilkinson stood erect with arms stretched wide. "Rain!" he cried. "The merciful rain! Thank heaven!" He stood with face upturned for an interval, enjoying the pelting downpour, then turned to look in the cabin door, a deep and brooding sadness in his bloodshot eyes.

"Donald," he said gently, "the newspaper account of this fire will mention the fact that a logger was killed. A logger?—yes—men like Blackie are the backbone of this country, the salt of the earth. Will people ever learn?" he continued, in a voice vibrant with deep emotion. He pointed to the barkless skeletons of trees blackened and charred and branches saved for the gibbet-like limbs stuck out of the earth. "Think of it! All this—the suffling out of a valuable life—a verdant hillside changed to a charnel-house of dead trees and blackened stumps on bare rocks—the loss of thousands of dollars worth of valuable timber—all this caused by the

CHAPTER XVII.

Donald's announcement that Labor Day would be celebrated at the Lake was received with good-natured approval by the men of the camp, who spoke of the coming event as the "dry" holiday. The rain, which had brought such blessed relief to the hearts of the gauchers of the forest, had cleaned the air of the last vestige of haze that had overhung the valley for the past month.

The morning of the holiday dawned auspiciously. The hot days of August had given place to the mellow sunshine of Indian summer. Through the crystal clear atmosphere the mountains seemed much nearer, standing out sharply against the blue sky. Near the top there had been a fresh fall of snow that had covered the bare ice of the glaciers like a white mantle. The brilliant rays of the September sun were reflected from this virgin covering with a brilliancy that was dazzling to the eyes.

Janet arrived at the occasion, bringing with her a score of her friends. All through the previous day the trail from the north had brought stragglers of cayuses from the Indian Reserve, their dusky riders pally bedecked in holiday attire. "Klahowya, tillicum!" they shouted, their coffee-colored faces lighting up with a grin that betokened a gala day spirit. Their tents dotted the lake-shore, their camp fires glowing cheerfully throughout the night.

The sports committee had arranged a varied list of events. A rowing race between the two camps; a sack race, free for all; a basketball game between the whites and the Indians; a sawing race in which the "buckers" from each camp would participate; a hundred-yard dash; a log-rolling contest between a man of the State of Maine and a citizen of New Brunswick. But these were mere preliminaries to the real event of the day, the much advertised horse-race. The men from the other camps, arrayed in their "Sunday clothes" made their appearance early in the day.

Each camp brought its quota of sandwiches and cakes, but the bulk of the work fell on Andy and his assistants, who piled tier upon tier of sandwiches on the long tables under the willows by the lake-shore. The lemonade was in half-barrels at each end of the tables, with a "help yourself" sign attached.

Old kitchenners, with stolid, sombre faces, etched deep with cross-hatching of wrinkles, walked through the throng laden with baskets. They were trying to sell. "Mika take bakket," quavered their aged voices as they held forth their wares.

About eleven o'clock Mr. Wainwright appeared alone.

"Where's Connie?" asked Donald. "As you are aware, Mr. McLean, Connie is very shy, I could not induce her to accompany me."

"That will never do," said Donald quickly. "I am going after her."

"I am afraid that your trip will avail you nothing," smiled Wainwright in his absent-minded way.

Donald borrowed a cayuse and set off up the trail. He hitched the horse at the edge of the clearing and proceeded on foot down the path, his shoes making no sound on the soft dark earth. As he turned a clump of alders and came in view of the cabin he stopped short, arrested by a sight that evidently elicited his amused interest.

Connie stood outside the door before a small mirror hung on the rough log walls of the house. She was attempting to place her heavy hair in a knot at the top of her head. A page cut from a magazine was stuck to a log near the mirror. She studied the photograph carefully, then returned to the attack with renewed vigor. But she could not get it to suit her. She tried and tried, but the heavy shining coils would elude her slender fingers and fall in a golden cascade over her slight shoulders. Her efforts to reach a satisfactory result brought her to the verge of tears. She stamped her little foot impatiently. At last she got it arranged in a fair semblance to that of the envious actress. The effect was so startling that Donald fairly gasped. The child of the moment was transformed, as if by a fairy's wand, to a woman of wondrous grace and beauty.

Connie perked her head saucily, then half smiled to show her small milk-white teeth; apparently she was pleased with the reflection she saw in the glass. From the clothes-line she took a four sack that had been split open and washed to be used for drying dishes. Draping this from her waist line, she pinned it securely. Assuming a haughty pose, she walked past the mirror with a stilted, undulating movement. The little artist was so perfect in her mimicry that Donald's lips involuntarily formed the word "Janet." Twice she passed before the tiny mirror with a regal set, her head, turning with its characteristic bird-like motion to catch the reflection.

"I tried several other remedies which did not give me any relief. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me after a few applications, and in two weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Muriel Gibson, Huggett, Alberta.

Gradually the queenly pose slipped from her. She stopped abruptly, throwing out her arms with a forlorn gesture. Her golden head fell forward. Two big tears welled from her blue eyes and ran down the small freckled nose. Her small hands plucked convulsively at her faded blue overalls. A sob like a stab pain shook her slender body. One arm came up slowly to cover her tear-wet face as she threw herself face forward on the grass. Her slender shoulders were shaking with such an agony of weeping, that Donald's throat felt constricted and his eyes grew suddenly dim.

Her spotted cayuse, grazing nearby, raised his head at the sound of Connie's hysterical sobbing and moved to the small figure of his mistress. With ears bent forward and a look of bewilderment in his soft eyes, he nudged her neck with his velvety nose. The sobbing continued, but her brown hand came up to pat his head lovingly.

Donald tiptoed softly back to the trail. He stood for some time with his hand on the saddle, his head bowed in deep thought. "Poor little kid," he said gently, then whistling a lively tune, he slowly retraced his steps to the cabin. He entered the clearing just in time to see Connie as she disappeared in the timber across the field. He did not want her to know that he was aware of her flight, so he knocked loudly on the door and shouted her name. A raven croaked derisively from the top of a dead tree. The pony raised his head to eye him silently. Connie's pet deer came around the corner of the barn, a look of gentle questioning in her beautiful big eyes.

Donald rode slowly back to camp. Connie's distress had touched his heart; her heart-breaking sobs were still ringing in his ears. "It is not that Wainwright does not love his daughter," mused Donald. "It must be that he is very poor."

"Don't see how I can help," his thoughts ran on. "One can't very well suggest to a father that he buy clothes for his child."

Andy rang the lunch-bell, and there was a wild but good-natured scramble for the tables.

A long table had been arranged in the big dining-room for the officials and Janet's party to which Donald had invited Mr. Wainwright.

"Did you find Connie?" queried Wainwright.

"No," lied Donald, "I couldn't find her."

Janet's friends were having a merry time. There was laughter, jesting and gay repartees from all sides. Douglas was in his element, his quips and brilliant sallies keeping the diners in a continual uproar.

As Donald glanced around the big table at the laughing faces of the gay party, he tried to visualize Connie dressed as one of these fashionably-clad girls who represented Vancouver's "younger set." The vision he conjured caused him to smile dreamily.

Janet had manoeuvred to secure a seat beside Donald. In spite of all her artful contriving, she had been unable to have more than a few words with her father's busy general superintendent since her arrival. She noticed the dreamy smile on his face and wondered what could be the cause.

"You seem rather distraught," she said with an arch smile, her dark eyes fixed on his face. "Aren't you enjoying yourself?"

WINDOLITE

The Improved
Glass Substitute

MADE IN ENGLAND

WINDOLITE stands for 100 per cent. sunlight. It makes light but strong windows for cattle sheds, dairy stables, poultry houses, brooders and all out buildings. It is economical, unbreakable, flexible and is easy to cut and fit. It is now being successfully used for sanatoriums, verandahs, schools, factories, hospitals, sanitariums, cold beds, plant coverings and greenhouses. It keeps out cold, will not crack or chip—cuts with an ordinary pair of scissors and is easy to fit. WINDOLITE is supplied in rolls any length but in one width of 36 inches only. A square yard of WINDOLITE weighs about 14 lbs. while a square yard of glass of ordinary thickness, weighs about 135 to 140 lbs. The improved WINDOLITE requires no varnish. WINDOLITE is made in England.

COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer. Nature's universal disinfectant and germ destroyer as well as a stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of health and hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last six years completely revolutionized gardening, given a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increasing the egg-laying capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

The reported sale of the McLeod block, in Edmonton, last week, is of interest to one local man. The price is said to be in the neighborhood of a cool million, and shows how City property has appreciated in value in a few decades.

The man to whom the sale is of interest is Mr Edward Hoffman, who came to Canada forty three years ago. The first summer he was in Edmonton he was offered, he claims, by the owner, the lot next south of the McLeod building cornering Jasper avenue, for the sum of fifty dollars. The deal would have been closed then and there, but for a friend who advised Ned to be careful.

Interesting Motor Pictures

Twenty five million people drive autos today yet comparatively few have ever seen a motor car in the making. The privilege of viewing the building of an automobile progressively from start to finish was accorded several hundred residents of this district who were the guests last week of Mr Pidgeon at a special moving picture presentation of the new Pontiac Big Six at Wudel's Hall.

Three unique moving picture films formed the basis of the presentation.

Of particular interest was the film which showed the advantages and features of the new Pontiac which has this year been placed in the big six class and is now known as the Pontiac Big Six.

The engine, according to Mr Pidgeon, is more powerful than a year ago, with 200" of cylinder displacement and developing 57 horsepower.

Paralleling the performance of the power plant are beautiful new longer and wider Fiaber bodies. Overall length has been increased to 187 inches.

$2 for Three Years

The recent announcement of the Family Herald and Weekly Star to give a year free with a two year subscription appears to us a move in the right direction. Not that the Family Herald needs to reduce its price; it is recognized that at $1 per year it is the greatest value in Canada today. The "year free" offer therefore, means this—the subscription is still one dollar for one year. but for two dollars you receive a subscription for three years instead of two years.

Hundreds will literally leap at this big offer and well they may. When one considers that for a two dollar bill you can have a paper of the calibre of the Family Herald and Weekly Star coming to your home for three full years—it goes without saying that it is a somewhat tempting offer.
